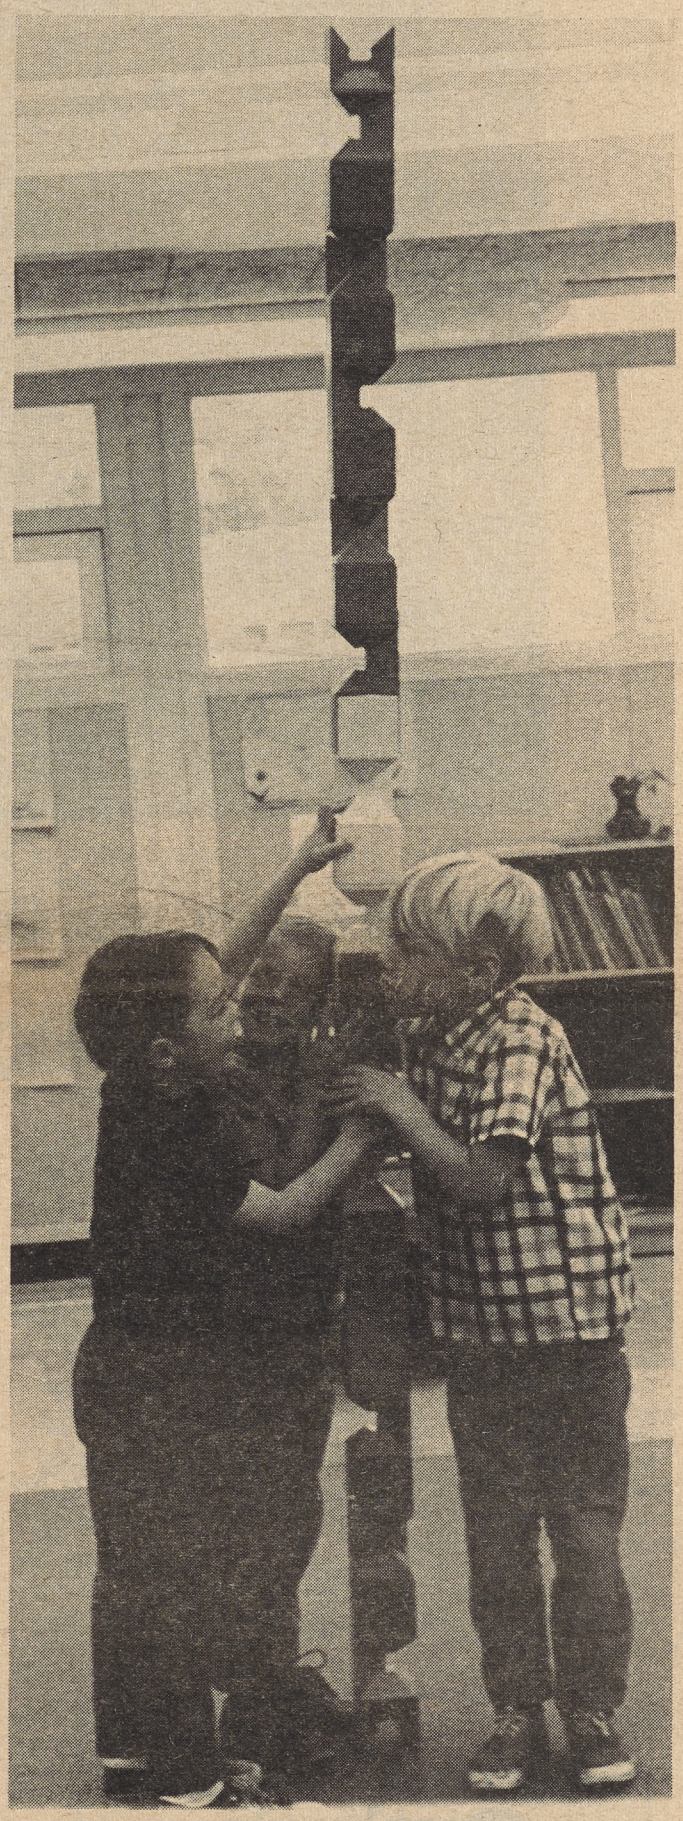
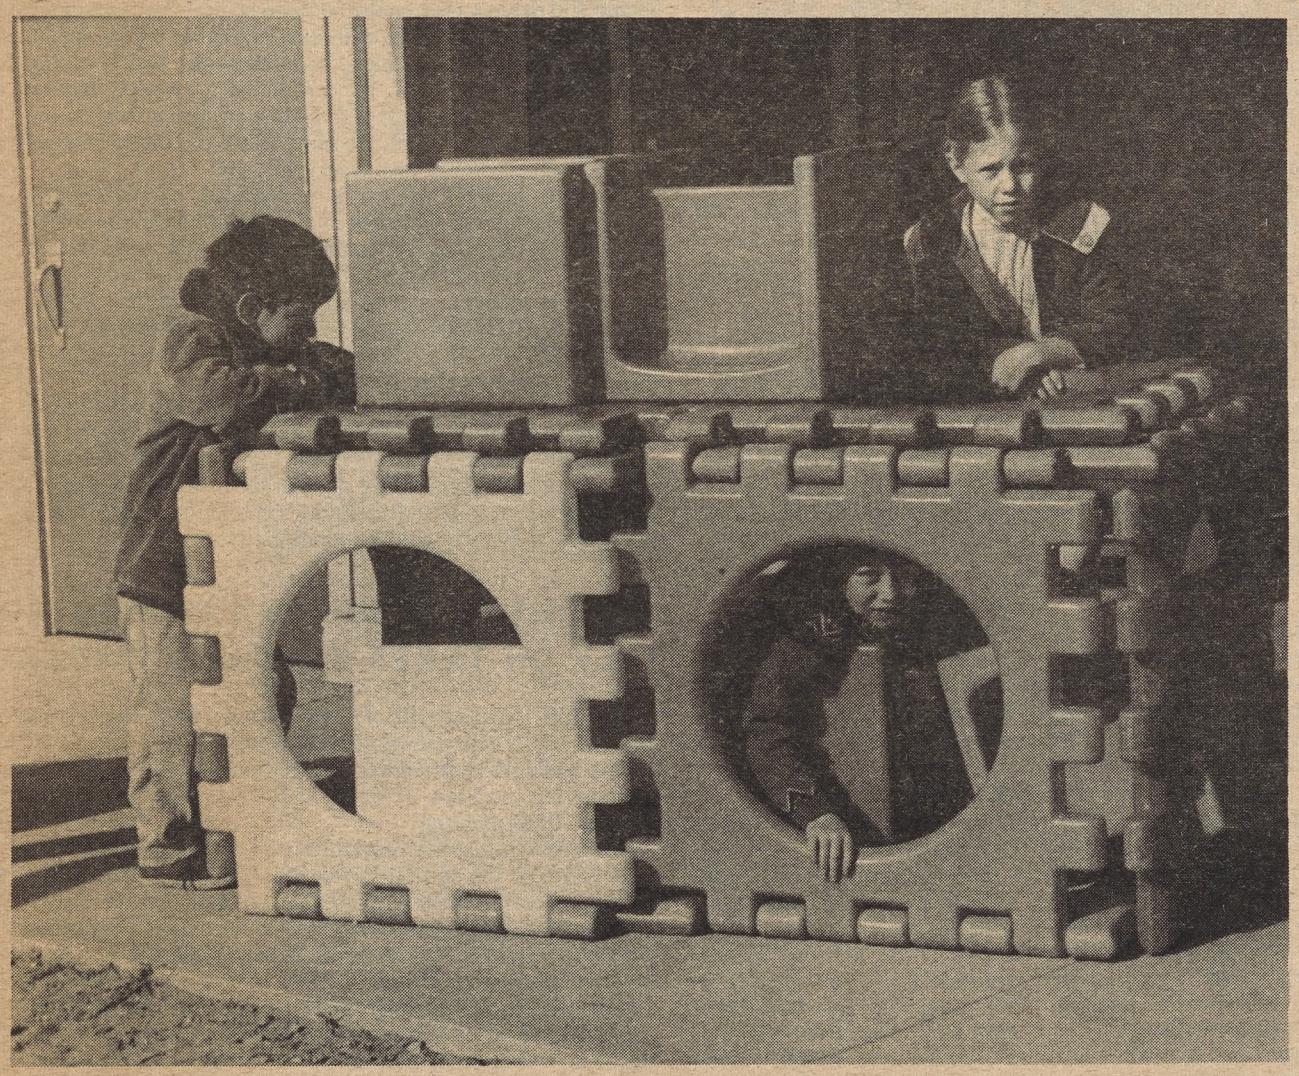
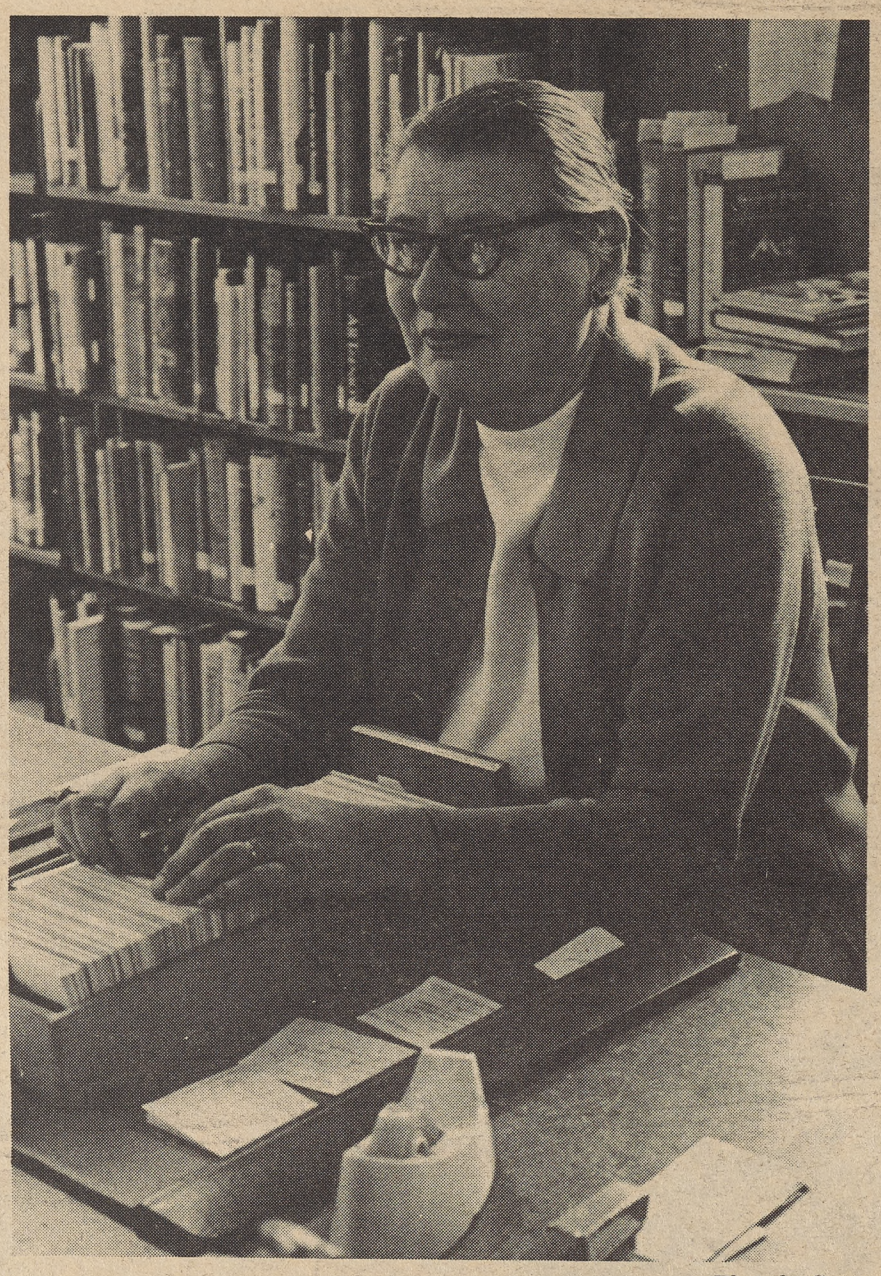
TURN THREE BOYS LOOSE with some oddly-shaped interlocking plastic blocks and what do you get? Maybe a tower that reaches the ceiling or a far-out piece of machinery or most anything you want. These first graders, Brooks Garner (in the checked shirt), Kevin Griffith and J.F. Blatnik are experimenting with the peculiar blocks during their free activity period. These blocks were added to the inventory of unusual play materials at Tularcitos School last week.





IT TOOK CLOSE COOPERATION and thoughtful planning to turn a pile of red, orange, yellow and blue building squares into a two-room house. Or is it a space capsule? Resting after their work are Ivan Collas, Brent Buche and Gretchen Vanderveen.

SCHOOL WAS NEVER LIKE THIS! That is, until new concepts in playground and classroom equipment was recently conceived, and introduced for the first time anywhere in Tularcitos School. For story and other pictures, see Pages 10 and 11.



MRS. BETTY SHIELDS - Photo by George T.C. Smith

Mrs. Betty Shields is new Carmel Valley Librarian

Carmel Valley has a new librarian, and if she has her way, her cozy nook in the Village will soon be jumping with youngsters.

"The thing I want to do first of all is attract children," beamed Mrs. Betty Shields across her new desk.

"I'd like to let children know this is a place they're always welcome. If they have to wait around for their mother, well, for heaven sakes, come on in."

One has only to walk in the door and hear Mrs. Shields' cheery greeting to know she means every word.

The mother of three children and grandmother of "3½", the Valley's new head librarian is a veteran of seven years at the Monterey Public Library and six years at the County Library office.

And after all those years, she's "happy as a clam at high tide" to be her own boss and put her own ideas on how to run a library into practice.

Mrs. Shields said the children's story hour will continue on Wednesday mornings at 10:30 until summer vacation. At that time a summer reading program will start, with attention focusing on California history.

As soon as she is settled in her new duties, Mrs. Shields will write a regular library column for the Outlook.

She and her husband, Kenneth, live in San Benancio Canyon.

PROPOSED DEVELOPMENT IN LOWER VALLEY RUNS INTO OPPOSITION

The request of the Arbor Development Co. to reclassify property in the Lower Carmel Valley has run into considerable opposition.

It is located on Carmel Valley Road and easterly of Val Verde Road. A housing development which the firm proposes would require a different classification than it now has (K-G-B-4), and it came up for hearing last week before the County Planning Commission.

The Lower Valley Advisory Board recommended denial, as did the Carmel Valley Property Owner's Assn. and the Carmel Planning Commission.

The County Planning Commission continued the hearing on the request to its March 25 meeting.

DESIGN APPROVAL

The planners reviewed and approved these requests for design approval:

Andre Agnew, Jr., sign.
Carmel Valley Custom Upholstering, sign.
Green Meadows, In., signs.
Katherine McGinnis, change of color.
Del Thorkelson, horse barn and stables.
Vera Stokes, change of color.
Rancho Canada Golf Club, golf cart stable, snack bar, 2 starting kiosksi, pro shop and 2 lavatory buildings.
Gen. Lynn Smith, dwelling.

In addition, the commission OK'd the transmission line route proposed by Pacific Gas & Electric Co. running from Carmel Valley to Rocky Creek. The utility indicated it would make every effort to make the power lines as inconspicuous as possible.

FIRST AID CALL

Walton J. Wiley of Boronda Rd. was taken to Community Hospital at 11:46 p.m. Sunday by the Carmel Valley Fire Department ambulance as a medical emergency.

There were no other emergency calls or fires during the week.

The Carmel Business Association reminds members and prospective members that March 13 has been set as the deadline for corrected copy to be compiled in the 1970 directory, of which over 35,000 a year are sent out. Statements have just been mailed to CBA members and it is hoped will be expidited by the importance of correct directory data.

WILDLIFE OF MONTEREY COUNTY ..

COYOTES - are they friend or foe?

BY LESTER A. GOLDEN

Small Wolf; Prairie Wolf; Genus, Canis; this small wild member of the dog family has, by virtue of his extreme intelligence and his amazing and indisputable ability to think and reason, been able to survive and even to extend his range in spite of the ever hostile and expanding encroachment of man upon his native habitat.

A joy to see as he lopes away with characteristic smooth flowing, springy gate, the coyote measures about 26 inches tall at the shoulder and weighs in the 30 pound class. The long tawny, black tipped hair, erect pointed ears and cylindrical heavily furred tail give false impression of larger than actual size.

The coyote is distinguished from domestic dogs by the droopy appearing bushy, black tipped tail, held lower than level with the line of the back or curved downward. The tail is never carried in an upward curve or curl nor bent upward at the tip like the tail of the domestic dog.

The coyote has earned a bad reputation since pioneer days by occasional inroads on small domestic animals such as rabbits, poultry and sheep and because he is known to kill deer and other wild game. Primarily nocturanal, his habit of hunting and feeding during daylight hours too has attracted undue attention and made him a prime target for unjust accusations by the uninformed among ranchers and would-be conservationists alike.

The sight of coyotes running away from or lurking near a dead animal automatically makes them suspect as the killers when in reality, they are merely attracted by the scent of fresh meat or carrion as the case may be. Coyotes have commonly been accused of killing calves and sheep but established facts indicate this to be only occasionally true. Two or three coyotes in the meadow near or among a herd of cows with calves may cause a rancher to run for his rifle. But the coyotes were really only hunting for pocket gophers and mice or groundsquirrels in the green grass.

The present foreman of a large and prominent cattle ranch in the Big Sur area, carrying on in the tradition of his father, dating back to the year 1929, cannot recall one single instance where coyotes killed cattle except in the case of an occasional weak or sickly range cow or calf that would have died and been lost anyway.

There are case histories in various western states where coyotes were virtually exterminated in certain districts by trapping, shooting and by the use of poison because they were considered a menace to domestic livestock. And because of the resulting explosion in jack rabbit, pocket gopher and groundsquirrel populations to compete for range forage crops and grain it was necessary in some cases even to import and reintroduce coyotes from other areas to help restore the natural control and bring back the balance of nature.

Coyotes frequently hunt in pairs or threes and employ team tactics to confuse and trap their prey. Two may hide in clumps of grass or bushes a short distance apart while a third coyote will drive a jack rabbit to them so that they can catch it with ease. Then all three will feast amicably on the spoils.

The coyote has sharp ears, keen eyesight and a highly developed sense of smell. He can detect a cleverly hidden steel trap and will spring it with a stick or drop a rock on the pan to avoid being caught. He may detect the bitter taste of strychnine in a piece of meat and spit it out.

Intensive squirrel poisoning campaigns carried on by County Agricultural Agencies at the request of farmers who suffer losses due to groundsquirrel depredation, often result in complete extermination of coyotes in the effected area through secondary poisoning. Yet a healthy coyote population in the same area in the beginning would have done much to alleviate the problem of crop depredation by natural control of the offending animals.

More and more ranchers are realizing the actual value to themselves of the wild animals on their land. The passing do-gooder who stops to shoot a coyote in the field has in fact done a foolish thing in destroying needlessly a highly intelligent and beautiful animal that actually contributes much to the welfare of a healthy wildlife community.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS FASCINATING TALK ON TREES BY JOHN DOWDAKIN

Why does the south side of Carmel Valley have lots of trees and the north side comparatively few?

This question was answered by John Dowdakin, service forester for the State Division of Forestry, at last week's Kiwanis Club meeting.

Dowdakin, himself a resident of the Valley, said that the direct rays of the sun hit the north side and not the south, thereby creating different soil conditions.

Unlike Southern California, the Valley is not confronted with smog damage to forests, but Dowdakin said it may be a problem to keep it that way.

His interesting talk also brought out the fact that the Japanese are importing huge quantities of California timber, which is having many affects on the lumber industry in the state, and has contributed to higher prices. Dowdakin said that he is not in complete agreement with those who advocate a complete halt in redwood logging, but believes it would be better to have controlled logging and reforestation to ensure a timber source in the future.

DID ENGINEERS RECOMMEND DAM AT SAN CLEMENTE RATHER THAN IN CACHAGUA?

SEAN FLAVIN QUESTIONS ACTUAL PLANS FOR DAM ON CARMEL RIVER ...

BY PATRICIA GRIFFITH

A preliminary engineering report prepared for the California American Water Company recommends a new dam on the Carmel River just below the present San Clemente Dam as the next step in increasing the water supply for the Monterey Peninsula.

It further suggests a second dam at Syndicate Camp in Cachagua Valley in 1985 to cover the area's water needs until the year 2000.

This information - in contrast to what was printed in a Monterey paper about initial engineering studies - came to light last week when Sean Flavin, chairman of the Cachagua citizens' committee, received a long-awaited copy of the report prepared by Kennedy Engineers of San Francisco.

The original story, released "confidentially" and allegedly based on the Kennedy study, said engineers recommended a two-phase dam development in Cachagua Valley. According to this account, the first dam would be built at Pine Creek (Syndicate Camp) and a second would be added in the 1980's to meet water needs until the year 2000.

Although Flavin was also under instructions to keep the engineering study confidential, he did release a copy of a letter he wrote to William Hays, president of the California-American Water Company in Los Angeles, after studying the report.

In the letter, Flavin said:

"I am struck by the apparent discrepancies between the report and the Herald story of January 14th. The report quite strongly recommends an alternative of a small San Clemente Dam to meet the initial requirements and a Syndicate Dam for 1985 and beyond. There is no mention of this in the Herald story. This is precisely what our Committee is recommending, except that we hope that the 1985 and beyond requirements can be met from other sources, such as Arroyo Seco, San Luis, etc."

Flavin went on to say:

"The report indicates that by full utilization of the Carmel River we can meet our requirements until 2000; after that we're going to have to find other sources. So the question seems to reduce itself to 'do we go for outside sources in 1985 or do we postpone it for 15 years or so?'"

Flavin said the Kennedy report and the Herald story are also at odds in describing the San Clemente site. The Kennedy Report says geologic conditions are advantageous there, while the Herald story reported San Clemente has "poor abutment and foundation conditions."

"What is the truth?" Flavin asked.

In comparing the Syndicate site with Klondike, just above the Village, Flavin made these observations:

1. The report says Klondike would involve expensive land acquisition, with a projected cost of $2.1 million as compared to $1.9 million for Syndicate.

Flavin said he believes land acquisition at Syndicate will be very time-consuming and expensive.

"A number of property owners have indicated to me what they think their property is worth," he wrote, "and if you add these up, it's going to far exceed the figure in the report. I think the assessor's records are way out of date; the Cachagua area hasn't been reappraised in years. There are even instances where substantial improvements are not reflected on the assessor's records."

2. The report mentions the fault line at Klondike, but not the Cachagua fault.

3. The report says road relocation expense would be about the same at Syndicate or Klondike. Flavin said he thinks road rebuilding would be more extensive at Syndicate in order to provide access to the south of the reservoir for property owners and for entry into Los Padres National Forest.

4. The report says there are major objections from downstream owners to the Klondike site. Flavin noted he already has petitions signed by 955 persons objecting to Syndicate and expects to get "a lot more."

5. The report says no geologic studies have been made of Klondike, but does not mention any adverse geology. Flavin said that at a recent private meeting with Ken Fuller, water company vice president, he was told the company was not seriously considering Klondike because of its apparent unsatisfactory surface geology, although the site has been recommended by both state and federal government as a dam location.

NO OTHER USE

Flavin said the Kennedy report also indicates it will be impossible to complete a recreational and flood-control dam by the 1975 deadline set by the water company.

"This indicates to me," he stated, "that if you proceed now with Syndicate, it will be purely a water conservation project and (Supervisor Willard) Branson's hopes of flood control and recreation are just out of the ball park."

While the report sees little hope of getting future water from Arroyo Seco and says that neither the County nor any organized group is pushing this, Flavin pointed out that he, Supervisor Branson and other local officials are working now to see what can be done to advance this project and secure a future commitment of water for the Monterey Peninsula.

Flavin also touched on two other points raised in the report. One was the possibility of taking water from the Carmel River to meet the future water needs at Ft. Ord.

"I think this is a misuse of the limited supply of the Carmel River," Flavin responded. "Water is already being exported over the hill and outside the Carmel watershed. We're going to be out of water soon enough from the Carmel (river) without trying to take care of everyone else's needs. The Salinas(river) wastes twice the water to the ocean each year that the Carmel does."

And finally, he noted that while the report shows 2,500 acre feet of water drawn from Carmel Valley wells in 1968, the amount rises to 6,000 acre feet annually from 1970 to the year 2000.

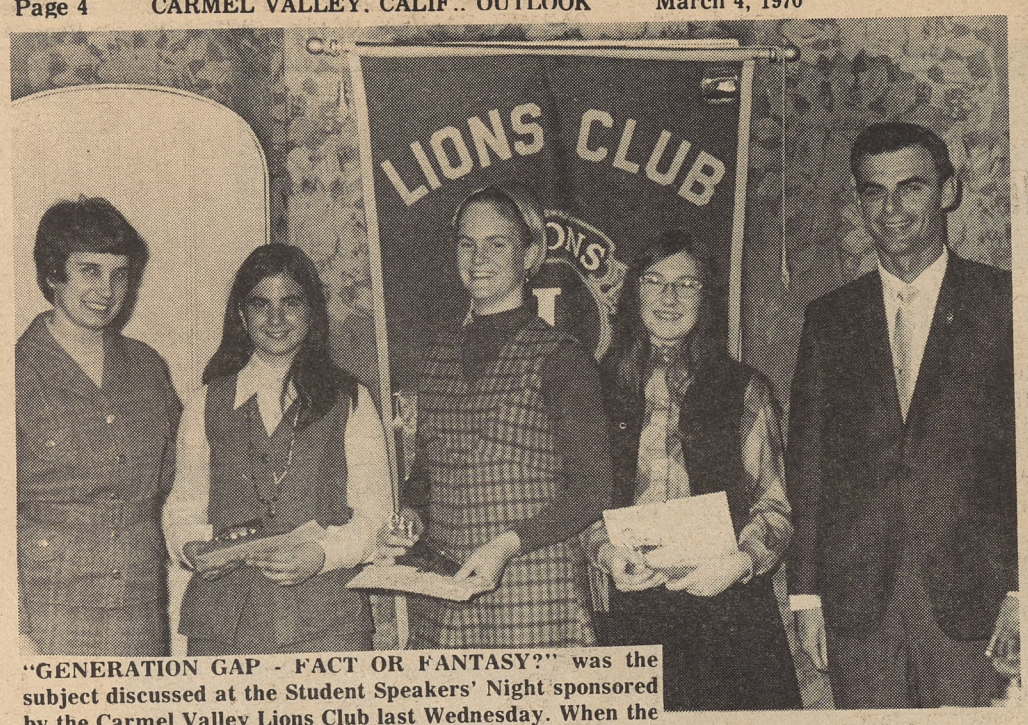
"How is it going to be possible to maintain this increased take with the additional dams which are projected?" he asked.

In conclusion, Flavin wrote:

"What stands out for me more than anything else is the absence of any consideration in the report for the drastic impact of the Syndicate (dam) on people. This may not be the engineer's function, but no other dam site anywhere in this county will involve so much injury and heartbreak for so many people. They are mostly little people in the sense they do not have the economic resources to put up a fight.

"They will never be paid for what they lose. Who can ever pay you for building your own home or barn or clearing your own land?

"And we will have lost forever a unique bit of environment. I know of no valley anywhere in California that is comparable. None of these penalties must be paid if we build an interim dam at San Clemente in an area already dedicated to water storage and look for ultimate needs elsewhere."



"GENERATION GAP - FACT OR FANTASY?" was the subject discussed at the Student Speakers' Night sponsored by the Carmel Valley Lions Club last Wednesday. When the evening was over, Cathy Toldie, second from left, had won first prize, with Lorelei Smith and Cherrie Shook the third and second place runners-up. With the girls is Diane Hardy, left, speech and drama teacher at Carmel High School, and Richard McKenzie, right, chairman of the Lions Club. Cathy will go on to participate in a contest for the winners of the seven Lions Clubs in this area.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

From the reaction of those fine parents who took the time to answer Mrs. Gayman's well documented facts and my own brief criticism, it is now obvious something must be wrong at Tularcitos. In all the letters, it sounded like the writers were trying hard to convince themselves that their own children are receiving a good education, while at the same time ignoring actual truth.

The documented facts cannot be brushed aside with a simple "Ho Hum". Parents who tried "face to face problem solving" with Mr. Gustafson were told "take your child out of this school if you don't like it".

If there is a "resistance to change" it's because after two years of constant change at Tularcitos, the experiment continues. The old saying, "Prove all things; hold fast to that which is good", is appropriate in expressing the beliefs of many parents who are concerned about their children's education.

Those educators who feel they "grope blindly" --- "at the learning process" might use a little foresight, or possibly hindsight, to improve their vision. It's obvious the true and tried methods have worked, if not, how could these capable parents have been able to write such meaningful letters?

If "individual instruction" is one teacher for ninety pupils, is this innovation in action or a Kettering Experiment?

Since we have taken Mr. Gustafson's advice and removed our child from the carnival environment at Tularcitos, we have no axe to grind, as some would imply.

Some parents have been "advised" by administrators to stop complaining about the school system or their children will suffer. Since I have no such threat hanging over my head, it is my intention to continue exposing John Dewey progressive education for exactly the agnostic materialistic, evolutionistic, and socialistic program it is.

If all those sheepskin sporting letter writers in favor of progressive education at Tularcitos can prove to me by evaluation or what have you that this system is valid for the majority, this poor dumb carpenter will apologize and be quiet.

In closing, one can't help but wonder why the glib-tongued principal of Tularcitos hasn't publicly refuted the documentation or answered the questions???

Respectfully,
ROBERT A. OROSS

ATTORNEY SEAN FLAVIN yesterday received a short letter from William Hays, president of the California American Water Company. Hays was responding to a long letter Flavin wrote (see story elsewhere in this issue) after studying a preliminary engineering report on potential dam sites in upper Carmel Valley.

Hays wrote: "I see no need to comment on its contents at this time. I am not necessarily in agreement with all of the statements you have made, but we will be pleased to discuss them as our people meet with you from time to time."

Flavin said he surmises from this that the water company will press ahead with its geologic and economic studies and say little until it is ready to announce specific plans for a new dam.

YOUTH GROUP ORGANIZES TO 'SAVE' MONTEREY BAY

S.O.S. (Save Our Seas) is a high school and junior college organization, its purpose being to engage in projects to protect the environment. The current S.O.S. project is to make a 16mm, color, sound film on the pollution of Monterey Bay. The purpose of the film is to depict the bay's sewage pollution problem and what is being done to combat it.

The students of S.O.S. are holding a fund-raising auction at the Pacific Grove Art Center from 1 to 5 p.m. on March 8.

Local merchants have donated merchandise for the auction and students are offering to auction their services for babysitting, yard work, car washing and house cleaning.

So far S.O.S. has raised $1,800. Del Monte Properties gave a gift of $500, followed by a $250 contribution from the Bing Crosby Youth Fund and $175 from the Monterey Kiwanis Club.

On the campuses the students have raised $500 from fellow students.

Contributions for the auction may be made by contacting the Art Center or English teacher Wendy Bender at Pacific Grove High School.

THE THEORY OF "POSITIVE REINFORCEMENT" .....

Never criticize your child, psychologist tells Tularcitos Parents' Club

The art of "positive reinforcement" -- or how to change a child's behavior through praise -- was discussed at last week's meeting of the Tularcitos Parents' Club.

Tom Sanford, a psychologist for the Carmel Unified School District, presented a brief summary of a no-credit course he gives teachers on how to change undesireable behavior patterns without being negative or critical.

"Whatever you see in a child, if he fights or has temper tantrums or can't sit still, he has learned from someone," Sanford told the parents.

"There is so little children can use to control their environment, that if they find something that works, they'll use it."

Reprimanding or punishing a child may bring about a sudden change in his behavior, Sanford said, but it will also set up feelings of hostility or rejection in the child and lower his self-esteem.

A far better approach, Sanford said, is positive reinforcement, which means praising behavior that is good and ignoring everything else.

Sanford cited a situation in his own family to show how this method works.

Some time ago, he said, he had been trying to get his three children, aged 5, 6 and 7, to clean up their rooms. "Like a typical parent," he said, he shouted and complained "this all looks like a pig pen. Suppose someone came in here and saw all this mess."

Day after day, he said, the routine was much the same, and the children never willingly cleaned up their rooms.

Finally, he said, he made up his mind that no matter how messy the rooms were, he was going to find something to praise.

"The first night it was pretty hard," he laughed. "But I looked and looked and finally found something that was good.

"And after I left their rooms, instead of coming right out, the kids stayed behind and picked up a few more things.

"The next night things were better, and there were several things I could compliment them on. Then they worked even harder putting things away."

Continued praise brought continued good results until "it caved in two weeks later because I forgot to keep praising them," Sanford said.

Sanford said that children who are raised with praise at an early age develop a high self-esteem, and as they grow older they don't need the constant reinforcement.

"If a child grows up with the feeling he has value and self-respect, he doesn't praise all the time," Sanford explained.

CLAIMS BAD BEHAVIOR WILL STOP

He said negative or "bad" behavior will gradually stop when it is ignored. "If it doesn't get attention, it isn't reinforced."

One mother in the audience said she was uncomfortable with the lack of honesty in this approach, and felt a child should know the cause-and-effect relationship of his actions and what his parent is actually thinking.

Sanford disagreed, saying that if one really follows the positive reinforcement approach, "there's such a good feeling that develops that there is no need for venting angry emotions.

"Who says we have to have angry feelings anyway?" he asked.

Sanford said that after the age of seven or eight, a child is often influenced more strongly by his peers than his parents. He said that children who go through school and don't pick up the negative standards of their contemporaries are the ones who start off with a strong, positive attitude.

During his discussion, Sanford referred several times to a spiral-bound book, "Living with Children - New Methods for Parents and Teachers," which serves as the basic text for his course. The book describes step-by-step implementation of positive reinforcement when dealing with a variety of behavior problems.

It is not available locally, but may be purchased directly from Research Press, P.O. Box 2459, Station A, Champaign, Ill., 61820. The authors are Gerald R. Patterson and M. Elizabeth Gullion.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

TO GERTRUDE AND LORING

There's no doubt it is sublime
To be married forty-nine.
But when it comes to being nifty
Nothing matches the Golden Fifty.

You start with one and wonder why
You ever started with this guy.
But when the second rolls around
The bonds are firm and this you've found:
That be he devil or be he saint
Single woman is what you ain't.

Pretty soon the years roll fast
The twenties, the thirties - they're all past.
And there you are, on a rare plateau.
Married forty - but it can't be so!

In fleeting minutes, not even hours
The decades bloomed and just like flowers
Left you rich with a heady scent
Spiced (we hope) with some time misspent.

For fifty years you've been as one.
Come make it Sixty - just for fun!

The above composed by Mrs. K. Reynierson (Connie Smith) was one of the many congratulatory messages sent to the FIFTIETH wedding anniversary celebration of Robles Del Rio residents, Lt. Col. (USA ret.) and Mrs. Loring Warner. The couple was feted by their daughter Nancy, and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frances M. Wheat, and their son and his wife of La Crescenta, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Warner, at the Wheat's new home on Lombardi Ave. in San Marino.

The couple cut a beautiful wedding cake and greeted the sixty guests who enjoyed the buffet luncheon in the dining room and punch served in the garden beside the pool. Flowers used about the house included yellow and white mums and gold carnations. Yellow daffodils centered the buffet table. Among the guests was Mrs. Warner's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Palmer of Pomona and their family of six; a surprise visit from Honolulu, Hawaii of Col. Warner's brother, Howry H. Warner; the arrival from Mexico City of a former fraternity brother and classmate during college days at Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schmidt and friends from their former home in Ohio. Also their grandchildren, Allen, Shirley, Patty and Nancy Warner and Gordon Wheat. The other two Wheat boys Doug and Carl sent greetings from Colorado College at Colorado Springs.

The Warners' other daughter, Mrs. Mark (Barbara) Nelson who recently visited the Valley and her four youngsters, Eric, Loring-Beth, Peter and Andy sent congratulations from their home in Kimberton, Pennsylvania Presented during the festivities to the delight of the celebrants was a cartoon sent by Valley artist Mrs. George (Lucille) Herbert. The sketch depicting Mrs. Warner as a mermaid, Col. Warner in a rowboat, and the caption reading, "Avast Loring, or she will sink you!" brought chuckles from the couple who started their golden voyage fifty years ago in Claremont.

Following the reception the couple went off to their honeymoon cottage at the Road Runner Club in Borrego Springs. Here during their stay they entertained Valley-ites, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hansen who drove south for the party, Mrs. John Hughes who was joined at the desert resort by her husband and the Warners' son Don, grandson Allen and the Wheats. The Warners returned to the Valley last week to begin their fifty first year at their home on Punte Del Monte.

MRS. CLIFFORD BOLGARD, hostess for the February dinner meeting of the Carmel Valley Lionettes, saluted George Washington with her red, white and blue decor at the Rippling River Resort. The red cloth was centered with a paper honeycomb of the patriotic colors and each place was marked with favors topped with miniature American flags. Dr. Joseph Blacow was introduced by the hostess as guest speaker. Birthdays celebrated were those of Mrs. Peter Glod and Mrs. Tom Bordonaro. The door prize was won by Mrs. Jack Black.

Under discussion during the business meeting was the Wine and Roses Ball and plans for their landscaping project at the Community Center.

THE ANNUAL Parents Without Partners Penny Pincher Potluck was held last weekend at the Valley home of Mrs. JoAnne Lang on Glen Place. Twenty five members and guests spent the evening exchanging recipes of the dishes which they had contributed and listening to records around Joanne's fireplace.

xxx

THE CARMEL VALLEY BABYSITTING CO-OP held a Koffee last week at the Esquiline Road home of Charmaine Trebas. Attending were Merrily Aliotti, Karen Cook, Patricia De Amaral, Louise Friday, Maggi Hallisey, Ellie Hanson, Jean Powell, Pam Rasmussen, and Gina Welch. There are presently openings for anyone interested in joining the organization; for further information please call 659-4450.

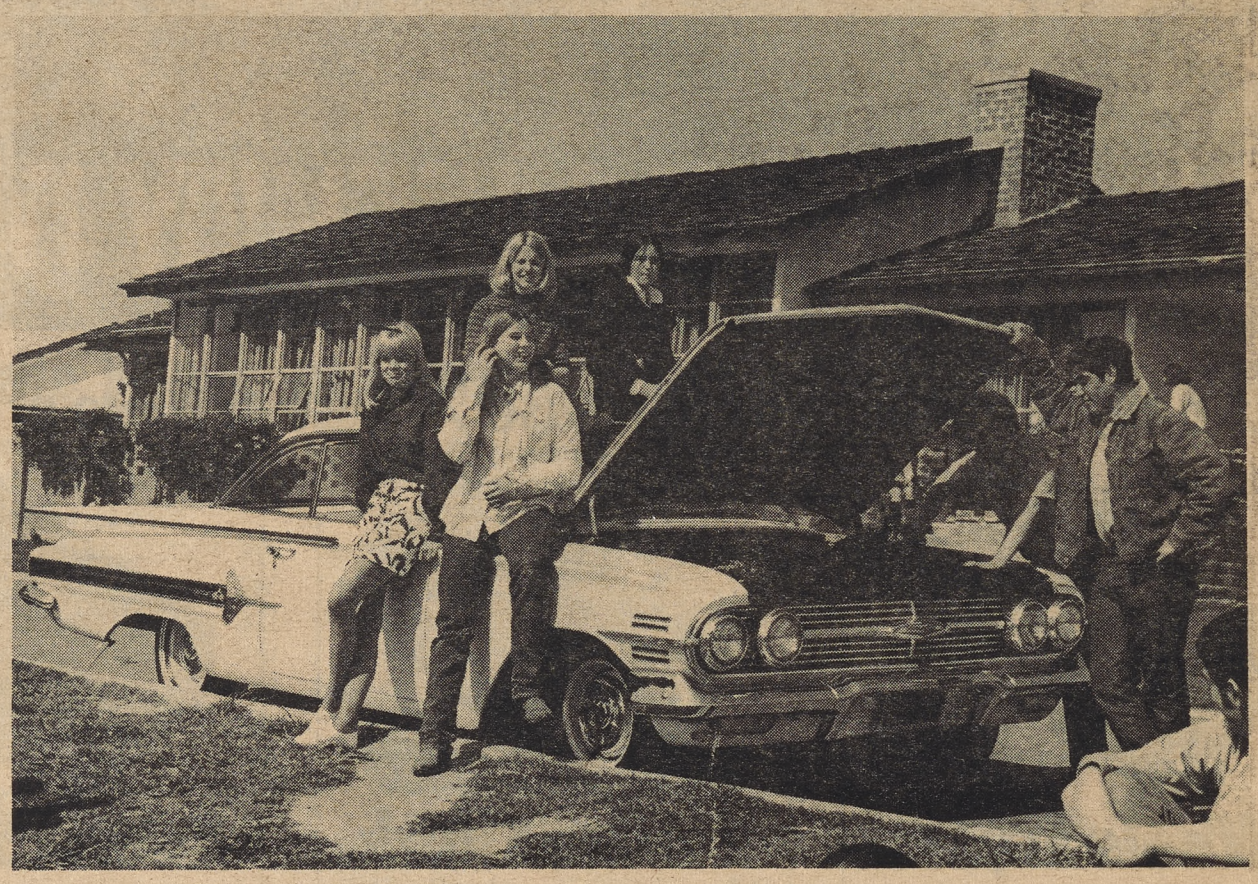
SPECIAL HOUSEGUESTS arrived at the San Carlos Ranch Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hurd when their daughter Marilyn and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Thomas and year old son Mark, came for a week's visit. The young couple have been living in Pullman, Wash. where Joel recently completed studies for his PhD in Chemistry. They are Ohio bound where he has accepted a position in Akron with the Goodyear Company doing Chemistry research.



THERE AREN'T MANY CARS AROUND these days that can be purchased for a quarter, but this 1960 white Impala coupe is an exception. It was donated by Roller Chevrolet for the Carmel High School Bargain Fair on March 14. The 25 cent donations will benefit the scholarship fund of the American Field Service. Six hopeful "buyers" who have checked over the car and found everything in running order are, left to right, Suzanne Moore, Helena Bresk, Joy Norman, Heidi Hattan, John Peters and Rod DeLeon.

Numerous social functions were planned during their all too short stay including family dinners, a dinner party in Pacific Grove with Marilyn's brother, Gordon, and family; a luncheon in Carmel given by Mrs. W.R. Holman; and a luncheon at the Valley home of Mrs. H.L. Quentel. Guests at the Evergreen Farm incluced Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Hurd, Mrs. Ralph Johnson, Mrs. George King and Mrs. Gordon Knoles of Pacific Grove.

xxx

THE ADULT FELLOWSHIP of St. Philip's Lutheran Church celebrated Valentine's Day with a bowling party in Monterey. Kirk Hiaasen was high wash a 162 average, Wayne Moore, second with a 161, and Mrs. J. Bernhard Bretheim third with a 152. A pizza party followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McMillan. Others attending were Rev. and Mrs. J. Bernhard Bretheim, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Battcher, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frank L. Moody, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Peterson and daughter, Mary Ellen White, Mr. and Mrs. Eilert Spidahl, Mrs. Alice Oldfield, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Hiaasen, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ryan.

SEVERAL EVENTS were planned to bid "Sayonara" to Mrs. Richard Bliss before her flight left last Sunday for Tokyo to join her husband for a Rest and Recreation leave from Vietnam. Ginnie packed and RE-packed suitcases countless times to stay within the weight limits (since she also had to take Dick's civilian clothes) and finally, admitting defeat, left Dick's SHOES in Carmel Valley!

Major Richard Bliss running around Japan barefoot should shatter a few illusions concerning our affluent American society!

A farewell buffet luncheon feted Ginnie in Carmel at the home on San Antonio of Mrs. William Evert. Glory served ham and accompanying dishes on a hand embroidered family heirloom tablecloth to Anita Wooten, Estelle Herring, Terri Gumm, Patricia De Amaral and Jenny Metz.

New neighbors Jan and Clare Ring who have recently bought the Harry Bixby home next door to the Bliss family on Lower Circle entertained with a family dinner party for Ginnie and her children, Rick, Katie and Susan before flying out of San Francisco for a brief stopover in Honolulu and then Tokyo. Friends are remaining in the Bliss home with the children.

"AN OLD OAK LEAF CLUSTER" to the Roller Chevrolet Company who have donated a car to be awarded during the Carmel High School "Bargain Fair". Mr. and Mrs. James Heisinger are in charge of the project whose 25c donations will go toward the Scholarship Fund and contribution to the American Field Service.

The car is on display daily on the high school campus and may be seen until the March 14th event on weekends at various shopping centers where students from the Legislative Counsel will be selling tickets. The 1960 White Impala Coupe boasts air conditioning, low mileage (and was only driven very slowly to the Super Market by the proverbially little old couple!). It will be claimed by its new owner about 3:00 p.m. during the annual Padre Parents Club-sponsored event which will be held in the Carmel High School Gym from 9:00 to 3:30.

WOULD YOU SELL your shoes? Your hat? Your pants? Your art? Your furniture? Your antiques? Your plants? For a Scholarship???

The Carmel High School Padre Parents did last year and provided nine scholarships to students of their high school and a contribution to the funds of the American Field Service.

This year Padre Parents are again holding their "Bargain Fair" on Saturday, March 14, 9:00 to 3:30 in the Carmel High School Gym to replenish the Scholarship Fund.

Donating items to this Fair is easy! Call Mrs. Gene Vandevort, 624-8801, Mrs. Colden Whitman 624-7702, Mrs. Thomson Hudson 624-1879 or 659-2468 for upper Carmel Valley.

LITTLE LEAGUE SIGNUPS TO BE HELD ON MARCH 11 AND 12

Signups for Little League baseball in Carmel Valley will be held next week.

All interested boys, ages 8 to 12, are invited. Each ball player should bring a parent and proof of age, such as a birth certificate.

Signups will be held as follows:

On Wednesday, March 11, at Tularcitos Multi-Purpose Room, 7:30 p.m.

On Thursday, March 12, Carmelo School library, 7:30 p.m.

LAGUNA SECA SEEKS RACE QUEEN

The Race Queen for the 1970 Trans-American Sedan Championship opener at Laguna Seca Raceway April 18 and 19 will be a local beauty.

The directors of the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula announces that they are seeking a young lady who will represent the verve, dash and color of this premier international automobile racing fixture. She must be a resident of Monterey County, available for frequent interviews with the press, radio, television and auto racing groups. She must therefore be single and over 21.

Interested girls should phone the SCRAMP office in Monterey, 373-1811, as soon as possible for an interview. The deadline for applicants is March 16.

MORE OAKS & CACTI

Up with People! The entire cast on stage,

UP WITH PEOPLE

It's a happening! When? March 7th and 8th when the "Up With People" musical show opens for an 8:00 p.m. performance at the Monterey Peninsula College Gymnasium. Anyone who has viewed the cast on previous visits to the Peninsula will undoubtedly agree with Bob Hope's comment, "They're the new medium for instant communication."

Up With People is made up of thousands of youth around the world in four international traveling casts; regional programs in the United States and abroad, and an Up With People High School and Up With People College Program on the road.

Performances have been given in 47 states, 1280 high schools and colleges, and 95 military bases.

Up With People explores the galaxies of man's mind. It sets no limits. With their music, they have made music for everyone, they have captured audiences in the Hollywood Bowl, Carnegie Hall and in the heart of the Congo. They learn languages, take their campus on the road and live in homes.

They're ordinary people whose theme is up. And they produce an extraordinary show.

- Photo by George T.C. Smith

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED in today's world of conflict and violence if beautiful thoughts, those intangible visions of sugar plums, ever find an opportunity to dart across a child's mind? The second and third graders who make up a class under the instruction of Mrs. Susan Venturelli and Mrs. Evelyn Holmes are trying their hand at poetry. Contrary to a pint sized version of "Mack the Knife" some surprisingly gentle and very lucid compositions were the results, three of which the students and teachers are allowing us to share with you this week.

"THE CLOUDS IN THE OCEAN OF SKY"
By Mickey Cummings, Grade 3
When the wind blows,
The clouds whisk across the sky
Like flying horses
Or dragon flies.
And then I wonder
What makes the wind
That blows the clouds
Across the ocean of sky.

"THE SEASONS"
By Susan Renault, Grade 2
When summer is here we build sand castles.
When fall is here we watch the leaves falling from the trees.
When winter is here we build a snowman out of snow.
When spring is here we pick flowers that grow.

"WINDY, RAINY WEATHER"
By Elizabeth Kern, 3rd Grade
When the wind is blowing
The trees sway back and forth,
The rabbits scamper to their little holes.
When the rain comes down,
The horses run for their stalls,
The birds fly for home.

NEW - AND COMPLETELY DIFFERENT - PLAYGROUND FOR TULARCITOS

Plans for the long-awaited kindergarten playground at Tularcitos School were unveiled last week for members of the Carmel School Board.

The architectural firm of Keeble and Rhoda has designed the play area, and the school district is now pricing and buying the necessary materials. Supt. Harris Taylor said construction will start "soon" and everything should be in place by September.

No traditional playground equipment is included in the imaginative layout. Instead, five to seven-year-olds will be able to peddle tricycles along a large free-form freeway, man a stockade, splash in a small "canal" which can be dammed up at several spots , and climb, jump or slide.

There will also be a very junior-sized amphitheater with a six-foot stage which can be used for story-telling, puppet shows and dramatics, impromptu or otherwise.

Kindergarten teacher Sallie Witter told the board that the playground has been planned "as an extension of the classroom, and we expect it to be in use all day by different groups of children."

Supt. Taylor said that the unique kindergarten unit at Tularcitos is being used to try out new materials and teaching methods before they are introduced elsewhere in the district.

"When we find something that works well, we'll apply it elsewhere," he said.

Miss Witter and Mrs. Evelyn Damgaard explained the type of program they are developing, and challenged the board members to play with some of the new equipment.

There were laughs and smiles and occasional looks of frustration as the men made towers from bright plastic building forms and pieced together geometric puzzles from Sweden.

TO EVALUATE EQUIPMENT

When the fun had ended, Dr. Hilton Bialek, president of the board, asked the teachers to prepare some sort of evaluation report showing the results achieved after using the manipulative equipment.

"As a board member, I can't say this is all worthwhile just because it's colorful or its's fun," he said.

Miss Witter noted that while precise evaulation is difficult, one group of children in this year's kindergarten-first grade complex has already completed the regular first grade math sequence.

"We have children capable of doing things we never could do with them before," she said.

In other business, the board:

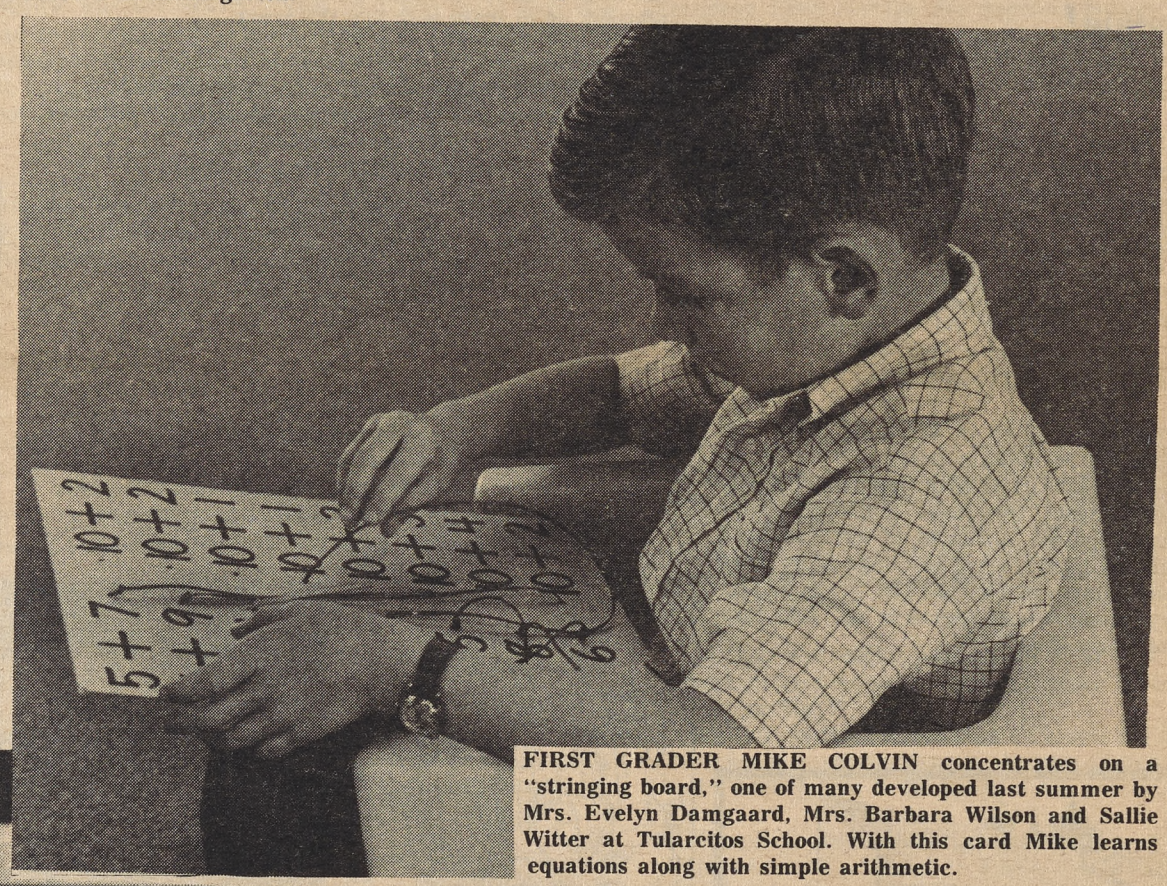
1. Was told by Supt. Taylor that the Monterey County Road Department will apply to the Planning Commission on March 25 for a use permit to cover a county corporation yard, a school bus garage and a future fire station on the floor of a 15-acre canyon parcel east of Del Mesa Carmel. Taylor said architects are now designing the actual bus repair building "which should carry us 20 to 25 years."

2. Viewed a film strip on LSD and a movie made by Lockheed to introduce a 15 to 20 hour classroom program on drugs. The presentation was part of an interim report by the board's drug education committee, which is screening materials that would be appropriate for a required course on drugs, probably at the Middle School level. A further report will be given at the board's meeting on March 11.

3. Approved the hiring of seven teachers' aides at Tularcitos School. Hired as classified employees are Nancy Frye, Chris Gibson, Phyllis Grissim, Gloria Landon, Dorothy Luce, Lynn Rambach, Helen Roberts and Sharon Weiss.

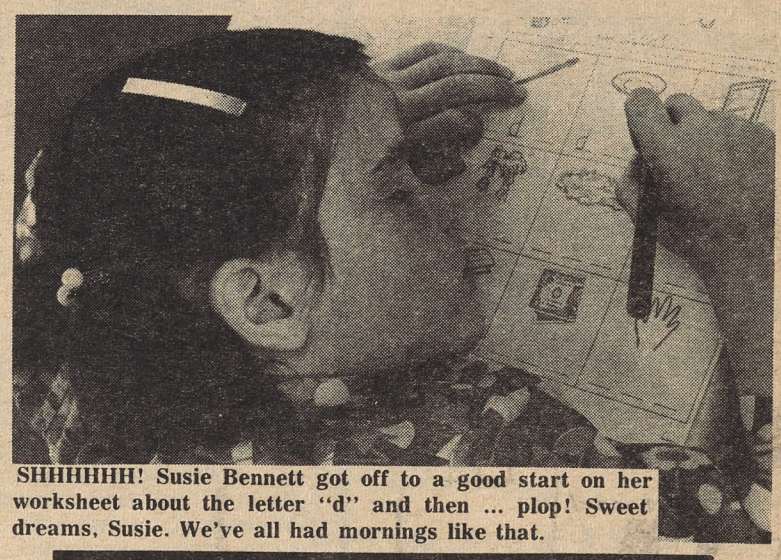
BY PUTTING BACK THE SQUARES in the proper sequence, Greta Honswald is learning about shadings of color. This is another imaginative puzzle from Sweden that is now challenging children in the Tularcitos primary unit. Greta is in kindergarten.

CLAUDIA KUENKLE carefully stacks seven little blocks to go with the number on the card. Her chair and small desk are two of the heavy-duty plastic cubes now being tested at Tularcitos School.



FIRST GRADER MIKE COLVIN concentrates on a "stringing board," one of many developed last summer by Mrs. Evelyn Damgaard, Mrs. Barbara Wilson and Sallie Witter at Tularcitos School. With this card Mike learns equations along with simple arithmetic.

NOW LET'S SEE, WHERE DOES THIS ONE GO? wonders Jody Mink. This Swedish puzzle, which teaches gradations in size, is being used by kindergarteners at Tularcitos School. It is similar in concept to some Montessori materials.



SHHHHHH! Susie Bennett got off to a good start on her worksheet about the letter "d" and then ... plop! Sweet dreams, Susie. We've all had mornings like that.

TULARCITOS SCHOOL NEEDS SOME VOLUNTEER HELPERS

Tularcitos School is looking for volunteers to assist with some classroom duties or to file and check out books in the library. Volunteers need not have a lot of time available -- even an hour or two a week would be helpful.

Principal George Gustafson said the volunteer program is separate from teacher aides, who are paid a small salary for regular classroom assistance.

Anyone interested in helping at the school should call the Tularcitos office, 659-2778.

PLASTIC CUBES that can be used as tables, chairs or building blocks are being tried out in the primary unit at Tularcitos School. Here, serving as small tables, they make it easy for Stuart Wolf, Vince Sturgill, Sandra Pryer, Anna Aliotti, Roenna Willingham and Susie Bennet to work independently. The teacher aide in the background is Mrs. William Gibson.

THE NEW OUTDOOR PLAY AREA for the kindergarten-primary complex at Tularcitos School is shown in this drawing made by the architectural firm of Keeble and Rhoda. There have been a few changes in the layout since this drawing was completed: the stockade and climbing apparatus will be combined and located in the area where the sandpit is now. The sand will be shifted to the spot inside the long horseshoe curve at the lower left side of the tricycle freeway. Construction of the playground will start in the next few weeks.

If there be Signs of Life soon ending
Each warning sign must be depending
On the presence of a Mind Divine
Alive, not dead, but Superfine.

And I believe that when life ends
It may not be from human ills,
But that the Living God so wills.
And if man would turn his mind
To general good he would find
Life just beginning.

EASTER MEETING OF CARMEL VALLEY COMMUNITY CHAPEL GUILD

The Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild will meet for a chow mein luncheon at 12:15 on Wednesday, March 11, in Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Don Johnson is in charge of arrangements, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Mark Hurd, Mrs. Stella Miller, Mrs. Ed Mayfield and Mrs. Nellie Mirani. This spring luncheon has become a Guild tradition, and those who have attended in other years know there is a delightful occasion in store. There will be a modest charge for the luncheon.

At the special Easter program following the luncheon the speaker will be Ruth Short (Mrs. James J. Short), well-known Valley resident. Mrs. Short's seventh book, "The Life of David Livingstone," has just been accepted for publication. The theme of her talk will be "The Recompense of the Resurrection."

Nursery care will be procided, making it possible for mothers of young children to attend this very special meeting. Children love the nursery school play equipment, both indoors and outdoors, and their play is compentently supervised.

ARTIST STUART A. FLETCHER DIED

Carmel Valley friends have just learned of the death of Stuart A. Fletcher, an artist and botanist who lived for many years on Valle Vista.

Mr. Fletcher died Feb. 19 in Santa Cruz.

He was past president of the Carmel Valley Gem and Mineral Society, and was active in the Carmel Valley Garden Association.

Mr. Fletcher spent many years in Samoa as manager of the Pacific Naval Air Base. He made friends with the local chieftans and had an outstanding collection of artifacts which are now in the museum of the University of California at Berkeley.

He is survived by his widow, Irene, of their home at 101 Moran Way, Santa Cruz.

This column today will be discussing luncheons, so we had better start by stating what the roots of the word "luncheon" are. Luncheon in old English meant "lump" and "lunshin", the early spelling came from an English dialect and meant "a lump of food". But in the same dialect there was also the word "nonschench", meaning a noonday drink. It is thought these two words eventually blended into "luncheon" and referred to "a lump of food with drink at noon".

In the 15th century luncheons were a popular form of entertainment, vying with suppers, in popularity. This popularity continues today as a pleasant way to entertain, as well as a way to provide the necessary food intake for schoolchildren and workers. Then there are of course bridge luncheons, club luncheons, and the businessmen's luncheons where business is discussed over good food. These latter are usually held in restaurants.

As a suggestion for an everyday luncheon for the family, is as follows; keeping in mind that a luncheon pattern should contain:

A Main Dish: Fairly light, such as an egg or cheese dish; a filling soup; a combination casserole; hot or cold sandwiches; a salad or vegetable; either fruit or vegetable salad, or a hot vegetable.

Bread: Muffin or roll, or slice of bread.

Beverage: Milk or cocoa for children, coffee or tea for adults.

Desserts: if desired.

MENU
Butter Toast Cups with Tuna
Mashed Potatoes
Green Salad Wholewheat Bread
Apple Souffle
Coffee or Tea, Milk

Recipe for BUTTER TOAST CUPS WITH TUNA

6 slices day-old bread
3 tbsp. melted butter or margarine
¼ tsp. paprika
¼ cup chopped onion
4 tbsp. butter
3 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. nutmeg
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 cups milk
1 cup canned or cooked frozen peas
1 7-oz. can (1 cup tunafish, flaked)
2 tbsp. chopped pimiento
¼ cup grated sharp cheese

Remove crusts from bread; brush both sides with melted butter; sprinkle with paprika. Press into muffin pans and toast in moderate oven (350 deg.) until golden, about 15 min. Cook onion in butter until golden; stir in flour and blend. Add seasonings. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in remaining ingredients and heat until cheese melts. Serve in toast cups.

Recipe for APPLE SOUFFLE

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
½ tsp. cinnamon
2 tbsp. melted butter
1 1/3 egg yolks
2 tbsp. lemon juice
1 tbsp. grated lemon peel
2 cups drained applesauce
3 stiff beaten egg whites
1 15-oz. can (1-1/3 cups) sweetened condensed milk

Combine crumbs, cinnamon and butter. Spread layer of crumbs in eight-inch square baking dish. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Stir in milk, lemon juice and grated peel, and applesauce. Fold in stiff-beaten egg whites. Pour into baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg.) for about 50 minutes.

For Lemon Coconut Topping, which goes well on gelatine or fruit desserts, is made as follows:

Combine 1 cup shredded coconut, 1 tbsp. grated lemon peel, ¼ cup sugar, and 2 tbsp. lemon juice. Toss lightly.

A DELIGHTFUL EXAMPLE of the days when homes had character is the home of Duncan H. Murray -- one of five to be open for viewing for the Second Annual Victorian Home Tour on Sunday, March 15, between the hours of 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The Victorian Home Tour in Pacific Grove Mar. 15

The Victorian Home Tour will be Pacific Grove's first event dedicated to the Bicentennial Year, and the Duncan H. Murray home is just one of the five homes that have been chosen for viewing this year.

Post-Victorian in design, it was built by Mrs. Murray's parents, the John P. Pryors. Everything in the house was made to order. Edgework on the walls was crafted by hand and then hand waxed. Brass and copper door knobs, hinges, and light fixtures were hand fasioned by Lillian Palmer. Mrs. Murray recalls her mother planning the home with convenience in mind. Two stairways were built into the three story building, and the back stairs were for the use of the 5 children and the maid, thus eliminating excuses for walking through the parlor and disturbing guests.

It is easy to see that this home and the other 4 on the tour have been given loving care and obvious affection. The Victorian Home Tour will provide tourist and native alike with historical insights and immense appreciation for the preservation of these homes.

The Monterey Peninsula Jaycettes will this year again act as hostesses in each of the five homes, and they will all be in costumes of the period.

All who take the tour will be invited to the teahouse at the new Pacific Grove Art Center on Lighthouse, and refreshments will be served from 12:30 to 5:00 p.m. The entire theme of the main gallery will be Victorian.

Tickets for the tour including the tea are $2.50, and may be obtained at the Pacific Grove Chamber of Commerce, or by calling 394-0970, or writing P.O. Box 2274, Monterey.

Net proceeds of the tour will go to help develop the children's Caledonia Park in Pacific Grove. Babysitting will be provided free at the Christian Church, 119-12th, Pacific Grove, 12:00 - 5:00 no children under 12 will be allowed through the homes.

TO THE EDITOR

Monterey County Planning Commission
240 Church Street
Salinas, California 93901

Gentlemen,

We understand the Arbor Development Company and the land owner (both non-residents of this area) are applying for permission to construct an apartment complex of some 52 units (Casas de Carmel) on a comparatively small piece of land adjacent to the Middle School in lower Carmel Valley.

We earnestly recommend denial of any such application. The proposed density is that of a city rather than the present one acre minimum of Carmel Valley. It violates existing zoning. This is the third proposed high density development in this general area, all three of which in our opinion will not conform to present zoning and are undesirable.

Proposals that increase the population density of the Carmel Valley and the Monterey Peninsula should be viewed askance. We are convinced they are basically bad and will in the long run work to the disadvantage of this community, which is already experiencing trouble due to inadequate sewage disposal, polluted beaches, and an immanent water crisis. Nowadays additional developments, business or residential, seldom pay their way tax-wise. They are apt to cost local government more than they contribute. This area can support and properly take care of only a definite number of people and still retain its inherent beauty and charm. Let the others go elsewhere.

The time is upon us to update our plans for the future, the Peninsula Area Master Plan, the Carmel Valley Plan and the Plans of the Peninsula Cities because of the immediacy of the problems due to more people; general damage to the environment; loss of vegetation and trees; pollution of air, soil and water; waste disposal; water shortage; traffic and transportation problems.

In particular we urge revision of the population standards of the lower Carmel Valley in the light of the foregoing before any developments such as this are approved.

Hopefully,
C.W. FISHER, President

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT MOLINARI cut their wedding cake following their marriage Feb. 14 at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula. The wedding cake was topped with delicate wax clasped hands, first used 56 years ago on the wedding cake of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F.C. Heise of Minden, Nev. The hands also adorned the wedding cake of the bride's parents and were used again when her sister was married two years ago. Mrs. Heise attended the ceremony, but Mr. Heise could not be present.

Married on Valentine's Day

Kathy Ann Farr, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Farr of Carmel, became the bride of Robert M. Molinari of Sunnyale at a Valentine's Day ceremony at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula.

The ecumenical service was performed by the Rev. Victor Davis of Fresno and the Rev. Charles Moore of Seaside.

During the ceremony the bride's father, a music teacher at Tularcitos School, played a trumpet duet with John Thompson and sang a solo, "O Perfect Love."

The bride designed and made her own wedding gown, using Italian lace she purchased last summer while on an art tour of Europe. Her dress was floor length white satin with an overlay of chiffon, with rows of lace down the bodice and around the skirt.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert Street. Dannielle Duygou of Carmel was her bridesmaid and Carol Molinari of San Rafael was junior bridesmaid.

Mrs. Molinari attended schools in Carmel and Monterey Peninsula College. She was graduated from San Jose State College where she majored in art.

She has a brother, David, who is working on his doctorate in mycology at the University of Michigan.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guido Molinari of San Rafael. He has two brothers, James and Jerry, and two sisters, Joan and Carol. A San Jose State graduate in business, he is now a purchasing agent for United Technology Center in Sunnyvale.

Following a honeymoon in Mendocino County, the couple are making their home in Sunnyvale.

CARMEL MUSIC SOCIETY PLANS NEW SEASON OF CONCERTS

When the Board of Directors of the Carmel Music Society held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann in Carmel, final arrangements were made for next season's program of concerts. They also discussed the arrangements for their annual meeting scheduled for May 22 at which time a young California artist is presented as the soloist for the evening. This has been a practice of the Music Society for a number of years and is one of the highlights of the season. It is also a wonderful opportunity for the young artist to appear on the concert stage. The artist for this year has not as yet been chosen.

The next regularly scheduled concert of the Music Society will be March 19 at which time the widely acclaimed pianist, William Masselos, will be presented. Since his debut at eighteen at New York's Town Hall Mr. Masselos has been consistently before the public on the two continents of the Americas and in Europe. The New York Herald Tribune said of his appearance at Carnegie Hall "He hit the piece straight off with a full, roaring tone and not for a moment did his energy flag, nor the piece go dull under his fingers ... it was the performance of a virtuoso technician, a musician of sensibility and style. In short, a knock-out!"

Some individual tickets are still available on a first-come, first-served basis. Tickets may be had by calling the office, 624-2085 or by writing to the Society, P.O. Box 1144, Carmel. There is always especial interest in a pianist, so it is suggested that, if you are interested, you make arrangements for tickets as soon as possible.

Several new members have been welcomed to the board in the past few months. They are: Mrs. June Hass, Mrs. Rosario Mazzeo and Dr. Samson Knoll, all of Carmel Highlands, and Mrs. David Hagemeyer, Gilbert Neill and Mrs. Bernard Szold, all of Carmel.

THE CHARM OF VENICE, THE BEAUTY OF ITALY IN NEW FILM

"Venice and the Italian Lakes", an award winning 2-hour color travel and adventure film, will be narrated in person as part of the Explorama Series by its producer Thayer Soule at 8:15 p.m. Friday at Sunset Auditorium, 8th & San Carlos Streets in Carmel.

The charm of Venice is perhaps one of the most unique and everlasting stories in history. The city has thrilled historians, poets, artists and travellers for a thousand years. It is a treasure of art and architecture that is unique in the world. Thayer Soule spent six months on location in Venice during the production of this 2-hour film which not only highlights the historical and scenic wonders of the city, but is a film that deals primarily with the lives of the present day Venetians. The film traces the history of Venice from Island refuge to world power. It reveals its beauty and investigates its problems of today and plans for tomorrow.

The second half of the film concentrates on the lake regions of Italy which are only hours away from Venice. This part of the film features the City of Milan and the Italian Lakes Garda, Como, Lugano and Maggiore. Also, the impressive Dolomites and the Italian Alps.

The film is part of the Explorama Series and is accompanied by stereophonic musical background and sound effects which were recorded on the spot in Italy.

PLAY DAY WINNERS AT CARMEL VALLEY HORSEMAN'S ASSN.

At a Play Day for Juniors held at Hidden Hills by The Carmel Valley Horseman's Association the following winners were posted.

English Pleasure: First, Eileen Forgani; Second, Dennis Forgani; Third, Brenda Nuckton; Fourth, Maile Hay; Fifth, Kristi Briggs.

Western Pleasure: First, Linda Raynes; Second, Ted Sherman; Third, Charlotte Day; Fourth, Brenda Nuckton; Fifth, Kay Williams.

Bareback Equitation: First, Eileen Forgani; Second, Maile Hay; Third, Jana Moore; Fourth, Patty Bell; Fifth, Linda Burnett.

Showmanship: First, Linda Raynes; Second, Cathy Hampshire; Third, Dennis Forgani; Fourth, Cherri Van Horn; Fifth, Brenda Nuckton.

Pole Bending: First, Sylvia Zoellin; Second, Lynda Raynes; Third, Patty Bell; Fourth, Ted Sherman; Fifth, Dennis Forgani.

Slow Race: Casey Williams.

Hat Race: The team of Peter Nielson and Ted Sherman.

Although ribbons were awarded for the five places, competition was not the first consideration. This was only one of four such Play Days during the year where emphasis is upon training and practice for the big shows held throughout the area in the summer months. April 5 is the calendar day for the association's annual Junior Horse Show which features twenty-one events in Eastern and Western Competition.

Location of the show will be the Trail and Saddle Club arena on Garzas Road in Carmel Valley. This is the only arena on the Monterey Peninsula, except the county fairgrounds, that is equipped to handle the large entry and spectator crowds that attend this annual event. It is also the site of the August 2nd Round-up sponsored by this same organization each year.

The Carmel Valley Horseman's Association meets the second Tuesday of every month in the Club House at Hidden Hills Stables. Visitors and prospective members are welcomed to attend the meetings when show details, trail rides and Play Days are planned. Membership is $5 per year, $3 for juniors. All members have access to the over one hundred miles of trails in the Hidden Hills development.

SLIDES ON HONG KONG TO BE SHOWN AT PADRE TRAILS CAMERA CLUB MEETING

"Hong Kong", a travelog of this small but important area on the coast of mainland China, will be presented at the meeting of the Padre Trails Camera Club on Thursday at 8:00 p.m. in Brey Hall, Carmel High School. The 100 slides and taped commentary were made by Carver and W.F. Scott, Jr., FPSA, of St. Louis, and earned for them a medal in the Photographic Society of America's color slide travelog competition for 1969.

In addition to this showing, which runs 26 minutes, each member of the club will present four pictorial color slides of his own making to be judged in competition for honors.

Those with an appreciation for well-done color slides -- and especially past or potential visitors to Hong Kong -- will enjoy this program and are most welcome to attend. Membership in Padre Trails Camera Club is open to all who wish to pursue an interest in photography. Galyn Hammond, program chairman, or Thomas Hardy, president, may be addressed in care of the club, Box 4994, Carmel.

TOUR OF EUROPE PLANNED ... HIGH SCHOOL CREDIT WILL BE GIVEN

Nick Zanides, of the Carmel High School faculty, is in the process of organizing a European tour sponsored by the Institute of Cultural Education. The tour is for high school students and includes not only the advantages of seeing Europe but also the chance of receiving a semester of high school credit.

Program courses include Humanities and Fine Arts, Comparative Governments and World Affairs, and Civilization and Philosophy. The elapsed time of the tour covers from four weeks to 40 days between the dates of June 14 and August 9, the length depending on the tour chosen.

Costs range from $760 to $910. Some of the exciting cities that could be visited are Paris, London, Rome, Munich, Florence, Athens and Istanbul.

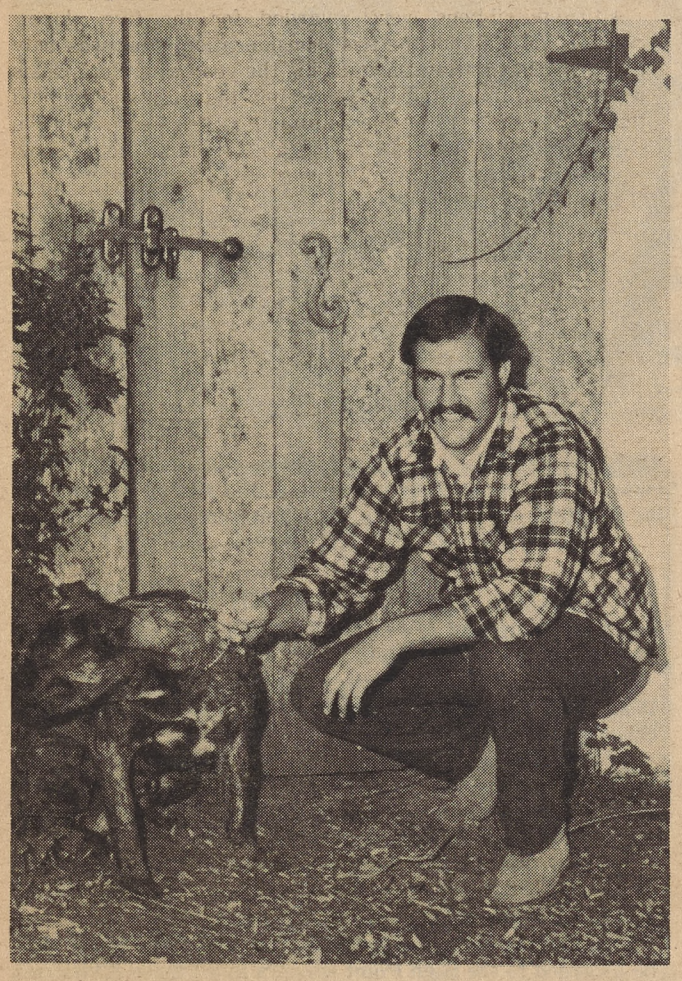
THE GRAND OPENING of the new Sears Automotive Center at 1002 S. Main in Salinas will be held Wednesday morning. It is the largest business of its kind in Monterey County. (See Page 20 for further details.)



THROUGH INTERCESSION by the American Red Cross because of a family tragedy, Stewart McKenzie found himself transplanted from aboard the U.S.S. Coral Sea off the coast of Viet Nam to Carmel Valley in a matter of two days. His friend's name is Murdock.

The Red Cross helps when it is needed most

"No no, not my father! It's a mistake, they must mean my grandfather." This was the reaction of a sailor aboard the USS Coral Sea stationed just off the coast of Vietnam as he faced the chaplain with a message in his hand. Slowly and sympathetically the chaplain went through the text again; still disbelieving, the sailor asked the see the message.

There was no mistake. The sad message had been telephoned to the Red Cross worker at 7:30 on a Saturday morning. The following was telephoned to AMCROSS (the Red Cross rapid message center in Washington, D.C.) -- To Red Cross Field Director overseas - Re: Stewart D. McKenzie, USS Coral Sea, APO San Francisco 96601 - Father, Donald, suffered seizure at football game on Friday, 15 November, pronounced dead on arrival at the Community Hospital, presumed heart attack. Funeral arrangements pending approval of emergency leave by military authorities. Please advise.

Sunday afternoon the Field Director replied to the local Red Cross that the military had granted emergency leave and Stewart would be on the first available flight. He had, in fact, reached Hawaii and had telephoned his mother just before the message was delivered. He would join his family later in the day!

Shock and grief wear away slowly but other problems must be faced at once. There were many more than could be handled in a 15-day leave. A 10-day extension was requested; the Red Cross message verifying the need for it went through and the extension was granted.

Before the ten days were up it became apparent that Stewart was needed at home for an extended period of time and he came to the Red Cross office to discuss the procedure to follow in obtaining a discharge.

Now, with many of the problems resulting from the sudden loss of the head of the house resolved, Stewart is trying to take up life again in the community. Stewart says, "As soon as the Red Cross verified the facts there were no questions asked and no red tape. The day after the message was received I was home! I have tremendous appreciation and respect for the Red Cross."

NPS WILL PRESENT 'THE CREATION' ON PALM SUNDAY

"The Creation", one of Franz Joseph Haydn's powerful oratorios, will be performed by the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society and the Monterey County Symphony at the Naval Postgraduate School on Palm Sunday, March 22. The public is invited to attend the 3 p.m. performance in King Hall.

This will be the fifth year that the school's Protestant Women's Chapel Guild has sponsored an Easter season musical program. Haymo Taeuber, renowned conductor of the Monterey Symphony Orchestra and 90-voice choral group, will direct for the second year in a row.

Soprano Norma Jean Hodges will be one of the three guest soloists. A Carmel resident, this will be the third time she has sung before a King Hall audience. The tenor soloist, James Schwabacher, has appeared in the Carmel Bach Festival, and has been praised as the leading oratorio soloist in the country. The bass soloist, James Tippey, made his solo debut at the age of 19.

Much of "The Creation" is based on John Milton's classic poem, "Paradise Lost." Before Haydn put the literature to music, he is quoted as saying, "I want to write a work which will give permanent fame to my name in the world." It appears that he achieved his goal. "The Creation" was first performed in Vienna in 1880, and Haydn, along with Mozart and Beethoven, is considered a father of the classical school of music.

Tickets are on sale for $2 at Abinante's in Monterey, McConnel's in Monterey and at the Naval Postgraduate School's Protestant Chaplain's Office in Herrmann Hall (646-2241).

GARDENING TIPS

... FROM THE CARMEL VALLEY GARDEN ASSN.

There is nothing that adds more beauty and charm to the grounds of a home than a lawn that is a carpet of emerald green and just the opposite is true of a lawn that is neglected and full of unsightly weeds, etc.

A good lawn requires maintenance, such as regular mowing, feeding, weeding, disease and pest control and regular watering during dry periods.

Faulty watering is the cause of more lawn failures than any of the other mistakes that are made in maintenance, especially during midsummer. Frequent and light sprinkling causes the roots of the grass to grow upwards because the top inch or two of the ground is moist while that directly beneath remains dry. When the grass roots are close to the surface they easily dry out during periods of heat and drought.

A thorough soaking to a depth of from four to six inches once or twice a week during the summer should provide enough moisture to cause the roots to grow downward and prevent the grass from having that brown, burned out appearance.

Now is the time to fertilize. It will make a big difference next summer. There are commercial fertilizers on the market that will feed as well as control the broad leaf weeds with the same application. Your nurseryman can recommend the proper brand and the best method to apply.

Mow at weekly intervals during the summer months and remove the clippings. If these are left they will form a heavy thatch which will prevent moisture from reaching the roots. Set the mower to cut at a height of 1" to 1½" during cool weather and at least 2" during the summer. This will keep the temperature lower at the root area and prevent wind blown weed seeds from germinating.

Attend your Garden Club meetings where you can discuss your problems with others who are interested in gardening and also have problems.

MAL TAVARES IS IMPROVING

Mal Tavares, severely burned in an accident at Fort Ord two weeks ago, is reported "progressing well" at Community Hospital.

He was transferred from Monterey Hospital to Community Hospital on Friday. Although he is no longer in intensive care, he remains in isolation with only his family permitted to visit. It is suggested that friends send cards or letters, since he may not have flowers in his room.

CARMEL VALLEY TRAIL & SADDLE CLUB OPEN SPRING SHOW

The Carmel Valley Trail & Saddle Club will hold its first major horse show of the year at the club grounds on East Garzas road in Carmel Valley, Sunday, March 15. A raindate has been named for March 29. This will be a C.S.H.A. and Region Six High Point show.

This is an open show with two age groups, 17 and under and 18 and over with the exception of the lead line and small fry classes (see picture).

At 8:30 a.m. the Western classes will begin with Pete Pedrazzi judging. At approximately 12:30 there will be a Color Guard presentation followed by the Gymkhana races. These races will be judged by Jerry Byrne.

The English division with equitation and jumping will climax the afternoon. Tom Schofield from Corral de Tierra will judge these events.

There will be prizes to first with ribbons to fifth. Silver will be awarded to the High Point winners in all three divisions.

The snack bar will be open all day for coffee, soft drinks, hot dogs and sandwiches. The picnic area is available for all who wish to bring their own lunches.

This promises to be a big show with contestants from many parts of Northern California as well as our own local exhibitors eager to participate.

The heart diseases are expensive. The Central Mission Trails Heart Association says that in the United States, the economic loss they cause is estimated at $4 billion yearly.

CVPOA TO HAVE BUSY AGENDA AT BOARD MEETING THURSDAY

The Board of Directors of the CVPOA will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday at 8:00 p.m. in the Community Center on Ford Road in the Village.

The meeting is open to members and non-members. Ed Lee, president of the CVPOA, urges all who are interested in anti-pollution efforts to attend.

"The agenda," he said, "will include status reports on Current Valley problems such as the location of the school bus compound and the location of the proposed dam." A major item for discussion is the Hillside Conservation ordinance which is scheduled for a public hearing before the Monterey Board of Supervisors on March 24 at 2:00 p.m. in the Supervisors Chambers in Salinas.

The agenda will also include the modifications to the Village airstrip as suggested by Al Hood. Mr. Hood, who recently leased the airstrip, has been invited by the CVPOA to attend the meeting and express his views.
